

Joshua Cramer, DAT, LAT, ATC, CSCS, CES, RCEP, sEMR, ROT, OBT, SNS, FNS, PN1, ITAT, USPTA: President-Elect

Josh completed his BS at Catawba College where he double majored in athletic training and communications and minored in speech. He continued his education at the University of Florida where he achieved his MS in applied physiology and kinesiology specializing in athletic training. Josh attended the University of Idaho and was part of the 4th ever DAT cohort. He has since completed certificate programs in nutrition and neuroscience from Stanford University and Harvard University respectively. He has worked in many different job settings including DI through DIII collegiate sports, professional sports, secondary schools both public and private as well as a physician/rehab company. Since December, 2021 Josh has been serving as the area director of sports medicine for NovaCare in the southeastern PA region. Josh is credentialed in strength and conditioning, sports and functional nutrition, orthopedic technology, emergency medical responder, as well as a handful of manual therapy techniques. Josh also is a certified tennis instructor and spent four years playing at the professional level.